

Park Hill Assisted Living Residence Celebrates 15th Anniversary & National Assisted Living Week

This year marked the 15th Anniversary of Park Hill Residence, a small, intimate assisted living known for its' quality of care and longevity of staff. To celebrate, a backyard party and ice cream social were enjoyed by residents, families, staff, and local community members to kick off the week. This year's Anniversary Celebration joined National Assisted Living Week which is an annual weeklong celebration. "Forever Proud" was this year's NALW theme for the Sept 11-17th week. Red, white, and blue colors were seen everywhere and all of the staff wore special t-shirts for the festivities. An Italian buffet, American flag cake, live music, and staff recognition were part of the special evening.

Park Hill was originally constructed as a convent for the Sisters of Loretto in the 1940s. Subsequent renovations of this beautiful English Tudor-style building have preserved its original charm and character and it was dedicated as an assisted living community in 1996. Cozy rooms offer privacy to all residents and spacious common areas include recently redecorated living room, dining room and sunny sitting room areas. High ceilings and beautiful woodwork impart a warm and friendly ambiance. Family-style TV rooms on the first and second floors allow for optional program viewing, activities and visiting with friends and family.

Located in a friendly, established neighborhood among private family homes, lovely landscaping and mature, stately trees, Park Hill is home to 36 senior and older adults with disabilities. Featuring mostly private accommodations, a rewarding activity program, and offering three home-cooked meals and 24 hour staff assistance plus a great, central address. A wonderful bonus of the locations is its proximity to so many interesting attractions such as the Denver Zoo, City Park, and Denver's largest, the Museum of Natural History, IMAX theatre, Gates Planetarium and public library. Several nearby churches and a community center also offer opportunities for fellowship within the community. Park Hill Residence accepts Medicaid Approved HCBS waivers and is owned by Senior Housing Options, Inc., a non-profit organization celebrating over 30 years of service. SHO operates thirteen residences serving over 500 older adults in communities in Colorado while assisting those of low and moderate incomes.

Thank you to all of our donors and volunteers who help make this a unique part of the Park Hill neighborhood.
