Cliffview Assisted Living Residence is home to 28 seniors and older adults with disabilities who need a supportive setting that maintains their independence. Cliffview is the only assisted living facility in Grand County and is a project of Grand County Housing Authority. Included in the affordable rent are private studios with kitchenettes and baths, 24-hour staff, medication administration, meals and snacks, activities and bus outings. It is a Medicaid-approved HCBS waiver program residence. It also has recently been certified as a Dementia Care Leader in Colorado through the Alzheimer's Association.

The staff at Cliffview Assisted Living has embraced the concepts of "Person-Centered"

Care that supports resident choice and self directed care. The members of the community are treated with respect and dignity and their individual choices are valued.

Cliffview is managed by Senior Housing Options, Inc. (SHO) a non-profit corporation celebrating 35 years of service in Colorado. The mission of SHO is to provide and promote quality affordable housing and services in a caring environment for older adults in Colorado. For more information about services please visit www.seniorhousingoptions.org or call 970-724-3530.

Western banks, give economic aid to the new Ukraine government, and isolate Russia diplomatically, denying their ability to play a role in international leadership. Whether these measures outweigh Putin's need to control the Ukraine is yet to be seen. NATO ministers Sunday proposed international monitors to ensure ethnic rights to allow all sides to cool off.

The new Ukraine government overplayed its hand. It overturned a law giving official recognition to Russian as a second language, a signal they were not going to respect the rights of the large number of Russian speakers. The Russian ethnics felt that their rights and security were endangered, giving the Russian military a reason to sneak into the Crimea. This should be a lesson for future 'spring' movements anywhere else in the world where there are ethnic or religious divisions, such as Bosnia. Protection of minority and ethnic rights must be an enforceable and stated goal of any group aspiring to change a regime by force or by the ballot, or they lay the groundwork for a shaky future and meddling by outside forces.

Obama, try to link his boyhood education to the "Twelve Rules for Radicals," the work of the socialist community organizer, Professor Saul Alinsky. While Professor Alinsky's "Twelve Rules for Radicals" and the "Ten Steps" read very much the same, it should be noted that Mr. Obama (then Barry Soetoro) was just an 11-year-old schoolboy in Indonesia when Professor Alinsky died in 1972 in Carmel-by-the-Sea, California.

Actually, the expert on Saul Alinsky is Hillary D. Rodham Clinton who wrote her senior thesis at Wellesley on the writings of Professor Alinsky. If no one has brought that fact to your attention before, it may be because Miss Rodham's 92-page thesis (which I just read) is incredibly boring. In pursuit of her subject matter, Hillary D. Rodham interviewed Alinsky twice. After their second face-to-face interview, Professor Alinsky was so impressed with Hillary that he offered her a job as his assistant. She

Putting concerns about how Mr. Obama and Mrs. Clinton were educated aside, a better use of time might be to consider the State of the Union in the context of the "Ten Steps."
